

I believe that Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air an anti-Kerry documentary a few days before the election is a misguided policy. Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Local stations need to be able to decide what to show and serve the interests of their local community. Media giants dictating to local stations what they will and will not show is wrong and we depend on the FCC to step in. Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve a more rigorous process.
Thank you.
